In this project, I created my own webpage for one of my favorite video games Stardew Valley. I created this website using HTML and CSS. I also used Photoshop to touch up and delete the backgrounds from the many different images that I used on the website. This project was somewhat challenging because I wanted to add many cool things to the website and I also ended up learning a lot of new ways to code different things.